FOR RELEASE ON RECEIPT

Dr. Erna Auerbach, noted European scholar of 16th century English painting, will lecture Sunday, April 21, at The Cleveland Museum of Art.

Dr. Auerbach will talk on the life and work of Nicholas Hilliard -- painter, miniaturist, engraver and goldsmith to Queen Elizabeth I and King James I. The lecture, which is open to the public, is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in the Museum's Recital Hall, located on the lower level.

Dr. Auerbach is a native of Frankfurt, Germany, and holds Ph.D. degrees from both the University of Frankfurt and the Courtauld Institute of Art at London University.

She is the author of three books on Tudor art, and is a frequent contributor to Burlington Magazine and other scholarly journals.

For the past several years Dr. Auerbach has been associated with the City of London Polytechnic Institute, and has lectured widely at England's Birmingham University, the Victoria and Albert Museum, and the Courtauld Institute of Art.

Her April 21 talk is the second in a series of four guest lectures planned this spring by the Museum's Department of Art History and Education.

The next lecture will be given Sunday, April 28, by Joseph Polzer, Chairman of the Art History Department at Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario. Final talk is scheduled for Wednesday, May 15. It will be given by Albert Boime of the State University of New York at Binghamton.
